

Conversation Toward A Brighter Future

Project/Proposal Rubric

Research and identify an issue and develop a plan that yields positive results in school settings. The project will require participants to think outside of their comfort zones with respect to the four core values of the MJCH - Respect, Dignity, Understanding and Forgiveness. The plans must be measurable, sustainable and capable of replication.

Criterion (Score 0 if content is absent)	Below Expectations (1)	Meet Expectations (2)	Exceeds Expectations (3)	Score
Implementation of the MJCH four core values: Respect, Dignity, Understanding, and Forgiveness	Plan demonstrates one of the four core values	Plan demonstrates three core values	Plan demonstrates all four core values
Sustainability	There is no evidence presented in the plan that indicates how this plan could be sustained over time	There is some evidence that the plan could be sustained for the first two years of implementation	There is factual evidence (actual budget information, staffing) that the plan is sustainable over time in the school setting
Measurability	The plan doesn't use measurable outcomes in the evaluation of success	The plan uses measurable outcomes in the evaluation of some aspects of the plan	The plan uses measurable outcomes to evaluate every aspect of the plan
Replication	There is no evidence that the plan as presented could be replicated in another school setting	The plan is convincing that in certain school settings the plan could be replicated	The plan could readily be handed to another school setting and replicated and sustained
All questions under Section 5 of the Guidelines thoroughly explored.	Less than three of the section 5 questions were adequately answered	Over 75% of the questions in section 5 were clearly answered	All section 5 questions were answered with clarity and understanding
Project proposal (double spaced) no more than 5 pages long including cover page, project abstract, statement of issue, and project description.	Not all requirements were met.	Requirements were basically met.	All requirements were met and exceeded expectations.
